

Spring Reading Days will be extended for undergraduate in-person, on-campus courses until March 20th. Beginning March 23rd, undergraduate in-person, on-campus courses will be delivered via Zoom until at least March 27th. The university will continue to monitor the COVID-19 situation and provide updates if the period for remote learning needs to be extended. Asynchronous classes are continuing as planned and Live Online classes will resume as scheduled on Monday, March 16th.

You received this message because you are listed as the Emergency Contact for a residential student. The following guidance is relevant to residential students:

- Those students who have the resources to continue their studies from home are encouraged to do so.
- Resident students who rely on campus resources to engage in online learning will have access to those resources.
- Innovators Hall will remain open. Residents are advised to avoid gathering in large groups, regularly disinfect high touch surfaces within their apartments, and to limit guests.

A more detailed announcement and information is available here https://mycapitol.capttechu.edu/ICS/Public_Information/Emergency_Response.jnz.

Please work with your student to make the choices best for their academic pursuits and personal health. As always, please contact us if Student Life can be of assistance.

Sincerely,

Melinda A. Bunnell-Rhyné

Vice President, Student Engagement and University Development

11301 Springfield Road • Laurel, MD 20708

Tel: 301.369.2543 • Fax: 301.953.1442 • www.capttechu.edu